Scott Pullins: "I have spent my career, both as an attorney, and otherwise, in roles where I help people break down and solve complex problems. After a consultation, you will be put on the path toward resolution of your issue. I will either recommend that you retain me to resolve your issue, I will recommend a trusted colleague, or I will offer some other solution, sometimes even free or at a lower cost than a private attorney, in order to assist you."

football, baseball, basketball, hockey and NASCAR as well as hoops. For hockey, we use all of the standard fantasy categories listed on the draft board to factor in for this statistical compilation. A player's performance in each category is plotted on one of these spectrums, with the most valuable players putting up most of their numbers on the most of their numbers on the positive side. Then, we add up the totals of every category, positive and negative. By using this tool, we can identify not merely how they performed, but how valuable their performances were in each category. Truly, this statistic serves as the ultimate baseline for the previous season's production.

Overview ^ The top tiers at forward are far shallower than at guard, so plan accordingly.

2020-21 Fantasy

[^] Just like last year, more than half of the owners (six) in a 10-team league will end up with a top-flight center, assuming each takes one of them. The second tier is very deep without much difference between the players involved – so try to get a top-tier starter, but if you don't, then be patient getting two from the next level.

Don't Be That Guy

^ Don't sleep on stat-sheet fillers who aren't as wellpublicized as some of the megastars. Examples include Gorgui Jieng, Patrick Beverley and Robert Covington.

^ Don't show up unprepared to deal with the specificities of your league's scoring system. Be prepared on all of the details.

^ Don't "punt" categories in a rotisserie league. You must try to be competitive in all areas in order to win.

^ Don't assemble too many injury question marks.

Suggested League Guidelines

We recommend that you hold your auction or serpentine-style draft with 10 owners, selecting 12 players (4 guards, 4 forwards, 2 centers). In case of an auction, use a financial system that allots an average of $11 per player.

Our preferred style of play is head-to-head rotisserie. in which teams compete on a week-to-week head-up basis. Recommended categories are points, rebounds, assists. steals, blocks, 3-pointers, 3point percentage, field goal percentage, free throw percentage and least turnovers. First place in each category would yield 10 points, second place 9 points, etc. A rotating tiebreaker category should be utilized in the case of a 5-5 category tie. The starting lineup should consist of 2 guards, 2 forwards and 1 center.

College Hoops Fantasy Team Game Suggested Guidelines & Draft Board

^ A standard serpentine-style draft serves as the best place to begin.

[^] The ideal distribution of talent would be as follows: 5 teams drafted by 8 owners, 6 teams drafted by 7 owners, 7 teams drafted by 6 owners or 8 teams drafted by 5 owners.

^ Points should be divided equally between success in the regular season/conference tournaments and in the NCAA tournament.

[^] Regular season point distribution should come in the form of a "snapshot" of the Associated Press Top 25 poll on the following dates: January 4, January 20, February 1, February 15 and March 1. On those dates, points would be allocated in the following manner: 1st place (100 points), 2nd place (94 points), 3rd place (91 points), 4th place (88 points), 5th place (85 points), 6th place (78 points), 7th place (75 points), 8th place (72 points), 9th place (68 points), 10th place (65 points), 11th place (58 points), 12th place (55 points), 13th place (52 points), 14th place (48 points), 15th place (45 points), 16th place (40 points), 17th place (36 points), 18th place (32 points), 19th place (28 points), 20th place (25 points), 21th place (22 points), 22nd place (18 points), 23rd place (15 points), 24th place (12 points), 25th place (10 points). Additionally, 90 points are to be awarded to the winner of a regular season conference title and an additional 90 points to the winner of a conference title tournament.

^A The other half of the points, in the form of NCAA tournament points, are to be distributed as follows: 50 points for qualifying for the tournament, 100 points for one of your teams qualifying as a #1, #2, #3, #4 seed in any region, 40 points for qualifying as a #5, #6, #7 or #8 seed in any region, 40 points for winning a first-round tournament game, 75 points for winning a second-round tournament game, 150 points for winning a third-round tournament game, 175 for winning a regional final game, 250 points for winning a national semifinal game and 500 points for winning the national title.

ROUND 1: Nobody really went off the board here.

ROUND 2: And there it is: Ben, Jason and Russ go a bit off the board.

ROUND 3: Samm reunites Lebron and Kyrie! Nate's 1-2-3 core might be the most explosive.

ROUND 4: Samm got the best value of the draft so far. Rick gets Raptor backcourt synergy. ROUND 5: Big value for Rick with Porzingis.

ROUND 6: Jason and Jeff picked up huge value with the dropping Harris and Hayward.

ROUND 7: This was a round for sopping up frontcourt talent.

ROUNDS 8-12: Hayes, Okongwu, Thybulle, Toppin, Ball, Sexton, Porter Jr., Herro, Trent Jr. and Allen: tons of young upside.

The Future Is Gonna Be Awesome (But It's Probably Not Here Yet)

By Rick Morris/The FDH Lounge

In the NBA bubble this past summer/fall, plenty of green shoots were popping up from the floorboards of the Magic Kingdom. Luka Doncic got to a level that few second-year franchise players ever reach. Phoenix's entire young core seemed to grow exponentially. Michael Porter Jr. played a major role in catapulting the Nuggets to the Western Conference Finals. The son of the "Shag of the MAC," Gary Trent, Jr., similarly stepped up for Portland. And who can forget about the epic Jamal Murray/Donovan Mitchell duals?

In The FDH Lounge, we've been forecasting for awhile now that the 2020s would be a time of, not parity, exactly, but a larger top tier than we're generally used to seeing. Out of a possible 20 teams, here's the number of different teams making the NBA Finals in each decade:

or The Next 10

The FDH Top 10 for the Next 10 is a list attempting to identify the best players in the league -- not necessarily in a pure fantasy sense -- over the course of the entire next decade. It's not a pure 25-and-under draft, but it skews heavily in that direction because most big-time stars are past their primes in their late 30s. Players who are both very young and very skilled already have the biggest edges.

Given that there are at minimum 6-8 teams who have a good chance to win an NBA championship in the 2020s as things stand at this time, there's reason to think that there could be a new record of 13 teams making the Finals this decade - or, there was before the climax to last season and then the offseason, anyway. Lebron James and Anthony Davis decided that the future hasn't supplanted them yet, taking home the 2020 NBA Finals in decisive fashion - prior to an offseason where they have only gotten stronger.

At the same time, the only plausible challengers to their throne for this season - as things stand now, anyway - are their cross-hallway "rivals," the Clippers and the new powerhouse in Brooklyn. All three of these teams, of course, are anchored by many of the biggest stars of the 2010s. Similarly, Golden State was poised to join them this year when their remaining (post-KD) stars returned full-time - until Klay Thompson went down for another season, delaying their (increasingly unlikely) return to the top level for another year.
