Draft Board Decoder

The FantasyDrafthelp.com draft board contains all the relevant information you need right at your fingertips.

* The "EXP" column shows how players ranked on an "Experts Draft Board" compilation of other leading industry sources. The "UQB" column shows how each player performed on our standard deviation from the mean statistic in 2022 (stat details on Page 2). If a league is considered stronger than the other one at this position, it will have its initials listed (capital letters means much stronger, lower case means not so much).

* Relevant 2023 statistical categories are listed, along with rankings for each, the number of games played and rankings in the aforementioned "UQB" category (UQB numbers in bold indicate that the player was higher than the statistical mean in every one of the measured categories). $$ provides the dollar value for a mixed-value auction, while $ provides the dollar value for a single-league auction.

Evaluating Production Across a Spectrum: Lessons of our Proprietary Ultimate Quantitative Baseline Stat

Our "UQB" category (Ultimate Quantitative Baseline) on our draft board calculates the standard deviation from the mean in all relevant hockey categories. In simple English, imagine a spectrum going across from left to right, with negative numbers on the left side, a "zero" in the middle and positive numbers on the right.

We utilize this statistic for football, hockey, basketball, hoops and NASCAR as well as baseball. For baseball, we use all of the standard fantasy categories listed on the draft board to factor in for this statistical compilation. A player's performance in each category is plotted on one of these spectrums, with the most valuable players putting up most of their numbers on the most of their numbers on the positive side. Then, we add up the totals of every category, positive and negative. By using this tool, we can identify not merely how they performed, but how valuable their performances were in each category. Truly, this statistic serves as the ultimate baseline for the previous season's production.

2024 Don't Be That Guy

^ Don't Be That Guy who sleeps on (or holds unhealthy grudges against) last year's falloffs. Bargain shopping in the middle & late rounds can bring you a championship. So don't hate on Jose Berrios!

^ Don't Be That Guy who enters the draft or auction with ironclad gimmicks. Rotisserie category "punting"! Only $1 apiece for all pitchers on the roster! All younger or all "proven" talent! The fact is that inflexible doctrines lead to failure, while nimble, think-on-your-feet reactive ability brings great success. Choose the latter approach and thank us when you're hoisting your trophy at the end of the year.

^ Don't Be That Guy who doesn't fully understand the nuances of your league's scoring system. Be fully prepared! Your choice of this draft guide is, frankly, an awesome start!

Here are our recommended formats for each (keeping in mind that for each format, if you have less than 10 owners, you should utilize a single-league format — and regardless of anything else, use a $100 Free Agent Acquisition Budget, or FAAB, to allow for distribution of players): ^ Rotisserie baseball: We urge you to use the standard 5X5 setup, in which BA, HR, SB, Runs and RBI are used for hitters and Wins, Saves, WHIP, ERA and Ks are used for pitchers (4X4 leagues drop Runs and Ks). For example, if you are in a 12-team league, the team scoring highest in each category earns 12 points, on down to the lowest team earning 1 point. Rotisserie baseball is traditionally associated more with the auction format, which works well here. Each player is given $260 of figurative money to purchase 23 players (2C, 1 1B, 1 2B, 1 SS, 1 3B, 5 OF, 1 CI, 1 MI, 1 Utility, 7 SP, 2 RP), with a 5-round standard serpentine draft afterwards to fill out a taxi squad. ^ Rotisserie/fantasy hybrid: This is probably our favorite form of competition, because it combines the traditional roto style with head-to-head play. Each week, you play against an opponent, competing in roto categories, with the winner of the most categories taking the victory (a tiebreaking category is established as a backup). Either an auction or the standard serpentine draft format works here. ^ Fantasy baseball: These categories should be used, with the number of points awarded for each in parentheses: Single (1), Double (2), Triple (3), HR (4), Hitter K (- 1), Run (1), RBI (1), SB (1), Win (10), Save (5), IP-ER (1), K (1). For this format, a standard serpentine draft is preferred. |

FantasyDrafthelp.com has long utilized our UQB, the Ultimate Quantitative Baseline, as one tool for evaluating fantasy players in a variety of different sports. Now the sister brand The FDH Lounge is adapting the concept for team sports. Here is our look at where the 30 MLB teams stand coming into the 2024 season. Our rankings are a mashup of the following measures: our FDH power rankings for 2022, OBP, OPS+, FIP, ERA+, Pythagorean Expectation, SRS and Run Differential. We have broken the teams into different tiers every time that there is a 10-point gap between one team's cumulative number and the next.

2024 Mock Draft Analysis

ROUND 1: Ken aside, the first round was pretty chalky and even her pick was close to FDH-endorsed value.

ROUND 2: Jason doubles up on extreme youth. Jeff got a pretty good value with Judge.

ROUND 3: Ron and Nate had the best values in the round. Not too many SP off the board by this point of the draft.

ROUND 4: Jeff, Ken and Rick cleaned up in this round. Mike V goes CL before SP!

ROUND 5: At this point, Ron and Nate still didn't have any SP! Cruz was a bit of an eyebrow-raiser for Jason here!

ROUND 6: Jeff becomes the early value "leader in the clubhouse" with Diaz here.

ROUND 7: Even if Round 5 was a reach, Jason rebounded spectacularly here. Secondary points to Ken.

ROUND 8: Perez, Buehler, Bogaerts, Musgrove, Springer: lots of guys here who once went higher.

ROUND 9: Jason, Russ and Rick all getting FDH Top 72 Overall picks here is pretty insane.

ROUND 10: Miller, Stott, Williams, Bibee and Luzardo, lots of emerging talent here.

ROUND 11: Carter really has a strong chance to overperform for Mike V.

ROUND 12: Mike V and Nate are really hoping for the health of their respective arms here.

ROUND 13: deGrom, Jansen, Santana, Bieber, Chapman, Jimenez, Morton, Merrifield, Marte, Rendon, Baez, Kimbrel, how the mighty have fallen!

2024 Fantasy Overview

^ To be perfectly honest, we anticipated a bigger bump in batting average last year with the (kind of) banning of the shift. It only climbed from .243 to .248. It is probably safest to anticipate another small advance in batting average. Conversely, it was unsurprising that SB/game jumped from 1.02 to 1.44 and, as we expected, the balance between power and speed unsurprisingly bent as well.

^ Also as we anticipated, 2022's slip in Ks/game to 16.80 was fluky, as the 2023 number rallied to 17.21. As with 2022, exactly 35 of the top 47 starting pitchers on our board had more than a strikeout per inning, so make sure that you have no more than one "pitch to contact" type in the top half of your pitching staff.

^ In terms of the positions of most scarcity, catcher is a skosh thinner this year and pretty good overall (since the second tier is thicker this year). Second base does not have the tiny top tier that it did a year ago, which puts it about even with catcher and shortstop (which has a deeper second tier than 2023). However, with none of these positions facing real scarcity, you should feel free to stack explosive players at deeper positions in early rounds.

^ Position eligibility is something that we focus on more than many of our peers and the Joe Maddon-ization of the game continues to trickle down to fantasy. The plethora of two-position, three-position and even four-position players is now remarkable. Every position that you save with a pick like that frees you up to go "best player available" in the late rounds when value will accrue at certain positions.

We at FantasyDrafthelp.com have been tracing offensive trends in baseball since we opened shop in 2006 and even longer than that, as part of the Drafthelp.com mothership previously. But the 2006 season stands out in particular when it comes to our track record, because FDH Director of Research Nate Noy indicated that there would be consequences statistically in terms of the new amphetamine testing. Of course, "greenies" had been a well-established part of the game for several decades and Nate predicated that less-alert players (keeping in mind that even hyper-cafeinated drinks would not come close to matching the effects of speed) would be far less likely to be able to keep up with the high heat. As the chart to the right indicates, he was absolutely right, with KO/Gm rising from 12.61 in 2005 to 17.35 in 2021, a monstrous jump in just 16 seasons! Beyond that correct prediction, however, we wanted to keep digging in light of the crash of offense in baseball by 2014. How much, exactly, had batting fallen off since the steroid era? And what had been the ebbs and flows of the game going even further back? We created an FDH offensive metric (the first column of the chart) by adding totaling up the spreads of the bolded categories (HR/Gm, Runs/Gm, BA, ERA and WHIP) going back to "The Year of the Pitcher" (and the year before baseball split into divisions for the first time ever), 1968. As such, we found that 2014 was the 49th-highest season for offense in this era – but the bounceback was coming. Call it the juiced ball effect, Statcast or whatever you want, but, paced primarily by an explosion in taters, by 2019 offense had incrementally moved back to the 18th-highest total. Clearly, baseball has had a few distinct eras in terms of offensive production since 1968: 1968-72 (a strong pitching era, with 1970 as an outlier), 1973-92 (a moderate offensive era with 1976, 1981 and 1987 as outliers), 1993-2000 (the first half of the steroid era, which built to a crescendo), 2001-09 (the second half of the steroid era, with offense receding slightly in the reverse of the previous period), 2010-14 (much less offense than the steroid era, similar to 1973-92 aside from 2014 being a pitching-dominated slight outlier) and the 2015-21 rebound of homer-dominated offense (which has not sent scores soaring to the steroid era levels purely because of the explosion of strikeouts). 2022 had more of the feel of the 201-14 years. Will this turnaround last? We think that offense will actually bounce back with the most extreme forms of the shift now banned, but HR may not follow.

2012-2024 FDH Best Player In Baseball Lists

NOTE: Since 2012, The FDH Lounge has been compiling an annual list of the best players in baseball, not in a fantasy sense, but in terms of all-around game. The list goes 30-deep, with an average of one player per team in MLB. The players listed just below each year's rankings fell off the list from the previous year. Numbers in parentheses indicate where players were ranked the previous year. We did not have a list in 2021, because it was too difficult to put together a comprehensive evaluation after the severely abbreviated 2020 season

PIONEERS OF BASEBALL
A fascinating profile of the national pastime's overlooked history: the teams, the stars and the events that would shape a sport heading into the 20th century. Available at Amazon

Briefly Summing Up Each AL Team

AL EAST

Baltimore: The Orioles have the best farm system in baseball, an incredible young major league nucleus and now the Angelos family sold to folks who will spend? "Uh, oh, Happy learned to putt!"
Toronto: It's a deeper team than most, but until their stars are enough to life them over the hump in October at least once, it's hard to fully believe in them.
Tampa Bay: It's a rinse-and-repeat offseason of retooling, but this time around it will be hard for the Rays to boast enough pitching to hang close to the top.
NY Yankees: Big acquisition Sojo helps anchor a good lineup, but pitching is likely to be the bugaboo for the '24 Yanks.
Boston: A top-heavy lineup and a barely-there rotation should be driving home the need for this team to radically rebuild.

AL CENTRAL

Minnesota: In the land of the blind, the one-eyed man is king.
Detroit: This years-long rebuilding project has not yet shaken out nearly the high-level talent that it should have.
Cleveland: Yet another slaptastic lineup fueling a poverty franchise.
Chicago White Sox: Is it too soon to pronounce the rebuild of a few years back a failure? That's a rhetorical question, people!
Kansas City: Bad news: the lineup doesn't scare anyone. More bad news: neither does the starting rotation!

AL WEST

Texas: A full year of Evan Carter, albeit no Scherzer or deGrom until midseason. They should be right back in the thick of it in October.
Houston: New manager, but the exodus of the players who built this big run has slowed, meaning that they remain a World Series threat.
Seattle: This is a tough division to win, but this is a really good team top-to-bottom. Is there enough high-end starpower aside from Rodriguez? We'll see.
LA Angels: A team that was stars-and-scrubs before is now without Ohtani, so the tough times will only get worse.
Oakland: Like last year, a historically bad team.

THE TOP 75 PLAYERS IN PRO BASKETBALL HISTORY

The NBA's 75th Anniversary has prompted a wave of Best-Of lists, but few with the substance to reinforce the selections. Authors Rick Morris, Ben Chew and Russ Cohen came together to create a list of the top 75 pro basketball players ever, with evidence to justify the placement of each -- as well as biographical details, comparisons of various legends, little-known-but-interesting tidbits, what-if scenarios and much more. Additionally, the book includes our year-by-year ranking of the top players in pro basketball and rosters for hypothetical "Olympic Dream Teams" had they existed prior to 1992. This is a book that is crafted for sports fans who are interested in learning more about the rich history of pro basketball.

Briefly Summing Up Each NL Team

NL EAST

Atlanta: The lineup is the second incarnation of the '95 Tribe and the starting pitching is well above average, but this team is the poster child for October being a crapshoot.

Philadelphia: It's an excellent team with peerless chemistry, but they have a tendency to NY Mets: They've devolved into the kind of stars-and-scrubs team that Steve Cohen inherited.

Miami: They played over their heads last year. They won't this year. The rebuilding must continue.

Washington: This lineup should always pose for pictures next to the starting rotation, because they look at least borderline good by comparison.

NL CENTRAL

Cincinnati: They still need more pitching, but the young hitting is exceptional and as the roster gets better balanced this year, they're a World Series dark horse.

Chicago Cubs: Aren't teams that have big aspirations supposed to be deeper than this?

Milwaukee: Boy, when they lost their manager, they really threw in the towel, didn't they?

St. Louis: They need pitching.

Pittsburgh: How can a team be bad this long?

NL WEST

LA Dodgers: Similar to the '90s Braves, this team started an epic postseason run back in '08 but only has one title to show for it. An entire offseason themed around "Durant to the Warriors" may or may not change that.

Arizona: They were a little "ahead of their time" last fall, and teams that go on that run don't always follow a linear progression upward, but they should still be in the hunt for October.

San Francisco: This team has an odd composition right now, with players on different timelines in their career.

San Diego: They underachieved last year and cut back on pricey talent a bit, so it seems unrealistic to expect a playoff surge sans trade deadline upgrades.

Colorado: Like last year, a historically bad team.
